

CLAIM

We claim that this electrical cord locking system is a new design, unlike any other product on the market today.

It is intended to secure or keep fastened the male and female ends of two electrical cords, while the user is mobile and free to move around. The nylon strap along with the hook and loop material prevent separation of a plugged joint.